Mr. Moss Draws on Experience In Preparing for Jazz Concert

The MSC Progressive Jazz Group and varied soloists will present a public concert under the direction of its versatile and experienced leader, Mr. Earle Moss, at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Charles Johnson Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

The band will perform 13 jazz numbers, including some taken from "big-band" arrangements. Examples of these numbers are "Early Autumn," by the Woody Herman group; "Artistry in Bolero," Stan Kenton; "Black Magic," Billy May, and "One O'Clock Jump," Richard Maltby.

Other features of the program will be a vocal solo, "My Funny Valentine," performed by Jack Briggs; a trumpet solo, "It's So Peaceful in the Country," by Gail Christian-sen, and an alto saxophone solo, "The Midnight Sun Never Sets," by Vicki Gillispie.

The MSC group has recently returned from a jazz clinic in Falls City, Neb., where they backed saxophonist Bill Ussell-ton in concert.

"Very seldom do you run into a group like this," commented Ussell-ton about the MSC band.

Mr. Moss has had a colorful background of work with well-known bands. Coming from a family of circus musicians, he and also with Gene Kruppa.

Moss received his bachelor of science and master's degree in music at New York University and has completed all course work for a doctorate at Iowa University, Iowa City. He taught music for five years in New York and Wisconsin high schools, and in 1954 he came to MSC, where he is presently an assistant professor of music.

Mr. Moss has composed numbers which have been presented in recent concerts by the MSC Progressive Jazz Group. He has also written music for other jazz groups and concert bands performing across the nation.

Thursday, the MSC jazz group will leave on a one-day tour to perform for area high schools at Hopkins, Stanberry, and Grant City. Selections will be presented from their Wednesday evening concert.

Mr. Earle Moss

started work at the age of nine as a snare drummer with a circus band. Beginning with his 11th year, he lived in New York, where he played the trumpet with bands in night clubs, theaters, operas, for radio and recordings.

While in the service during World War II, he performed with special service bands which featured such names as Artie Shaw and Bob Crosby. After the war he appeared again with Shaw in New York

Union Lecturers to Discuss Abortion, Ghetto Problems

The Controversial Speakers series will be resumed April 22, when the Union Board will present Gerald M. Schaslander, arthur of "Ghetto Crisis" and a sociology professor at Boston University, and Bill Baird, the founder and current director of the New York Parents' Aid Society.

Mr. Schaslander, who will speak on ghetto problems, was one of the key figures in the Bedford-Stuyvesant Urban Renewal program in New York City, the only area that has not yet been touched by rioting. In addition he has worked with Black Nationalists, CORE, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and other community projects. As a result of his work he is considered by experts to be an authority in his field.

Mr. Baird will speak on the topic of legalizing abortion, hitting on the areas of the danger of contraceptives and abortion as it is now illegally and dangerously practiced today in the United States. He has been well received on the campuses of Harvard, UCLA, Boston University, and MIT, commanding standing ovations from their student bodies. Boston University deemed him "The best speaker we've ever had."

More information as to the times that these men will be presented and the following panel discussion will be posted in next week's Missourian.

Ugly Man Contest to Feature Week of Varied Activities

Who is the ugliest man on campus?

This question will be answered next week as Beta Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega presents the Ugly Man on Campus Contest and associated activities.

Many of the MSC organizations will be sponsoring candidates to vie for this coveted title. To win it, the sponsoring club must accumulate more points and money than any other group through participation in the events of the week. All money collected will be returned to the students in the form of financial aid. The trophies, which will be awarded in the various divisions, will be on display next week in Colden Hall.

A free variety show at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Administration Building Auditorium will begin the contest. Many of the organizations sponsoring a candidate will present skits in an attempt to convince the campus that their candidate is the ugliest.

John Hoffman, MSC graduate, will act as emcee. An excellent impressionist, Hoffman now teaches speech and drama at Central High School, St. Joseph.

The comedy presentations will be judged by a panel of mothers of the men of Alpha Phi Omega for both awards and overall points. First and second place awards will be given in three divisions: fraternity, sororities, and open. The points will count towards the final selection of the ugliest man on campus.

A dance at 7:30 to 11 p. m. April 23 in Lamkin Gymnasium will be the second big event of the UMOG Contest. The Kaleidoscope of Lincoln University, Lincoln, Neb., will provide the music for dancing as they make their debut in this area.

Men are advised that they won't need to worry about getting their dates in by the usual deadline. A Penny Night has been declared in honor of the occasion through the courtesy of Associated Women Students.

During the band's intermission, it will be Beauty and the Beast Contest time. To each candidate for "Ugly Man" there will be presented a coed who will use all her charms to persuade the audience that her beast is the most beastly. At stake in this contest are trophies and points used in determining the final winner. Admission charges for the dance are $1.25 for couples and $.75 for singles.

A carnival, climax to the week, will begin at 7:30 p. m., April 25, in Lamkin Gymnasium. Johnny Dolan, WHB radio personality, will act as emcee. All organizations sponsoring a candidate will have booths. While the final judging is taking place, Dolan will preside over a record hop and give away prizes, courtesy of Maryville merchants.

All questions about the Ugly Man on Campus Contest can best be answered by Alpha Phi Omega co-chairmen Richard Hallenberg, 616 Phillips Hall, and Hamilton Henderson, 111 Cooper Hall.

Tri-Beta Plans Banquet

The biology staff and Tri-Beta members are invited to the third annual Tri-Beta Founders' Day Banquet.

According to Dr. Kenneth Minter, adviser, the banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the Union.

Business Honor Group Plans Spring Banquet

Beta Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national business teacher education honor society, will hold its annual spring banquet at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 22, in the Blue Room of the Student Union.

Mr. Everett Brown, assistant to the president, will present a program on his travels in India. Guests at the banquet will include faculty members in the Division of Business.

An outstanding junior and senior member of Pi Omega Pi will be announced at the banquet. Honorees are selected by members of the group on the basis of scholarship, departmental classwork, work in Pi Omega Pi, and dependability. The honorees are awarded engraved jewelry, and the senior honoree has his name engraved on a plaque hung in the Division of Business office.

Poll Reveals Student Inaction Reaction to REW

"Religious Emphasis Week? When was that?"

This was the most prevalent reaction among the students to a recent poll taken by Missourian reporters.

Religious Emphasis Week was March 24 through 28. Guest lecturers spoke at various classrooms and meetings throughout the day, including a daily convocation. A program given by the Confronters, a musical group from William Jewell College, a transite display from the New York World's Fair, and a film entitled "Man's Search for Happiness" were also included in the activities.

While a majority of the students questioned stated they did not participate in REW, many believed the program to be meaningful and worthwhile. Ironically, even those pollees who did not take part in the activities thought that the program was beneficial and should be continued.

"I believe Religious Emphasis Week should be continued"

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor

the following comments. good or bad, useful or not stem from or rather were developed in my mind after reading a recent letter to the editor in the April 1 edition of the Northwest Missourian (it also may be noted that this WAS april fool's day) by one, Charles A. Flanagan Jr.

starting at the end (always a good place) I must wonder, as others probably did, about his (Mr. Flanagan's) last two sentences.

"The greeks are not gods. Let's not treat them like they are, and let's have equal representation."

The first statement is obviously true (but who said they were?) the thought never entered my mind, and I doubt if too many others have had similar thoughts. "Let's not treat them like they are," who does? I've never treated any like gods.

SECOND incident? I guess nothing happens in the dorms or other fraternities, does it? I mean knocking holes in the walls, breaking into machines in the rec room, shaving cream fights, water fights and other rowdy or destructive extracurricular activities that keep people awake and destroy property. One must be awfully gullible to think somebody pledges a fraternity not knowing that everything isn't goody-goody and believing bad things don't happen.

"Isn't this college . . . locat-because religion is as important in our education . . . as any other related area," stated Linda Haag, a junior.

One student did not attend any of the activities because "religion is very individual and not to be exploited." However when questioned as to whether the program should be continued, the response was "yes" on the grounds that " . . . it might help some people."

Jan Marsh, a freshman who did participate in the activities, supports the program. She stated it " . . . informs you about the beliefs of others and makes you question your own."

"It makes you stop and think about your own religion and what you do or don't do about it. It slips away when you think you have gone 'all college,' and it's great to have something remind you about your life's purpose," Miss Marsh continued.

G. J. George, a junior, said "Many individuals are never exposed to other religious sects. By having this week, many people were given this chance." He also said that "to know about one's own faith and other faiths broadens one's education."

"It gives the students a chance to learn more about other religions and to state their own opinions and ideas," was the response of Susan O'Riley, a sophomore. "The speaker I heard gave me some good ideas. He also made me think, and isn't that what we're here for?"

Not all the response was favorable. John Coss, a senior, stated: " . . . it is unconstitutional in spirit if not in practice. The other reason is that it generally does not serve to ed in Missouri and not in Russia?" Next I suppose we will be reading a letter on the conflicts of capitalism and communism, how capitalism is (?) better, or print a list of communists on campus. "war lords"? oh come now, the fight wasn't all that bad. "so-called gentlemen of the campus" — why should they be anymore gentlemanly than anyone else?

Yes, "nasties" DO happen, like a hog on third floor coo-per at 4:30 am (or thereabouts) or breaking into machines in the rec room, or screaming up and down the parking lots at all hours of the night or knocking holes in the walls in the dorms or stealing, most of this doesn't get printed either.

No matter what Mr. Flanagan has said, I still think the Missourian is a good college paper. As for some things not getting printed, he ought to work on the paper awhile. I did once and I understand the staff's problems.

inform but to sermonize. It should be abolished."

"Certainly religion is a part of a well-rounded education," answered Larriette Gilmore; "however, I prefer that my religious education be left up to me."

Reginald Turnbull suggested improvements. " . . . the emphasis should be on speaking in classrooms, media exposure — such as folk song groups — and films, and involving organizations such as UCCF, Wesley, Newman, BSU, and more speaking at all-school meetings."

Students felt the timing of the lectures should be improved.

"Don't hold it during mid-terms."

" . . . lectures should be held at different hours. I couldn't attend because of classes."

"Have more programs at an hour other than 4 p. m. on account of late classes."

"Perhaps more people would have participated if as much emphasis had been placed upon this as there was on Give a Damn week."

Question: Will the response to the 1970 REW program be: "Religious Emphasis Week? What is that?"

Staff Explains Policy Of Viewing Candidates

A question may be raised by the class officer candidates in this week's elections as to why their pictures and platforms were not printed in the Missourian.

Each candidate was asked to present a platform. Response was good but incomplete. Many of the candidates merely furnished biographical data, others vague ideas for an office which really has little to do beyond routine functions.

Next week the Missourian staff plans to print pictures and biographical data on the winners in the class elections. All winners should see that this information is submitted by Friday noon.

Senate Asks Groups' Help In Cleaning Up Union Den

The aid of various student organizations is to be enlisted in the Student Senate sponsored clean-up project in the Bearcat Den.

Jim Burk, a representative of the Student - Faculty Advisory Board, presented a plan of the proposed Union Board approved project before the Senate for its endorsement at the Thursday night session.

Organizations will be asked to sign their approval to the plan. If present conditions in the Den are not improved after the project is underway, the new Den will be subject to a week's closing, Burk said. Senators Anne Clarke and Angel Melendez were appointed to send the information to the campus organizations.

An amendment to the constitution that would require candidates for student body office to be classified as a junior or senior by college standards at the time of the election was presented in its revised form for Senate consideration by Senator Larry Woody.

Senator Pete Richardson brought up the idea of a columnar type ballot for the coming student government election. This type of ballot would allow candidates to run under the platform of their respective parties. Since none of the parties were in objection to this arrangement, the matter was left to the discretion of the election board.

The constitution for the new Associated Men Students organization was approved by the Senate.

Candidates for student office that were present were introduced to the Senate by Senator Steve Schottel, nominee for student body president, who was asked to summarize the campaign platform of the "Challenge 69" office aspirants.

Among The Birches

By Bill Musgrave

Well, there's a new bird in the Birches. The big Ford Bird flew the coop and left me this ridiculous job. What have I ever done to him? Let this be fair warning. Keep your heads up! There's a giant Musky Bird up there somewhere.

The 1969 Student Senate campaign is in full swing. The candidates have made themselves known and their platforms have been clearly stated. Everyone is excited and enthusiastically backing the candidates of their choice. The banners and posters cover every available inch of wall space.

One student clearly conveyed the feverish anticipation of a campus awaiting its new leaders: "Election? For What?"

It is worth while to note the efficiency with which the Senate nominating convention was carried through. Fortunately, the strong arm tactics of the campus police were not needed to keep down the riotous 20 or so people at the convention. Perhaps we should send our secret to Mayor Daley.

I was given the privilege of flying into the college pond one day not too long ago. My hearing must have been affected.

Mail Bag

A letter was recently received by the Missourian staff from Sgt. Norris L. Hurlbut, '68, who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

In part, the letter said: "I enjoy the varied and numerous articles in the Northwest Missourian. Keep up the good work."

Someone told me there was a concrete floor in the bottom of that cistern. Impossible!

I watch with sadness as the beautiful birch trees are cut down around the campus. However, I think I've come up with a solution. Why not plant some cypress trees in the marsh lands on the west side of the Administration Building and in front of Colden Hall?

Strike Blocks Progress; Creates New Job

Construction on the MSC Industrial Arts, Engineering and Technology Building is behind schedule, faces total work stoppage by construction workers, and has created a new job for Mr. Henry Courtney.

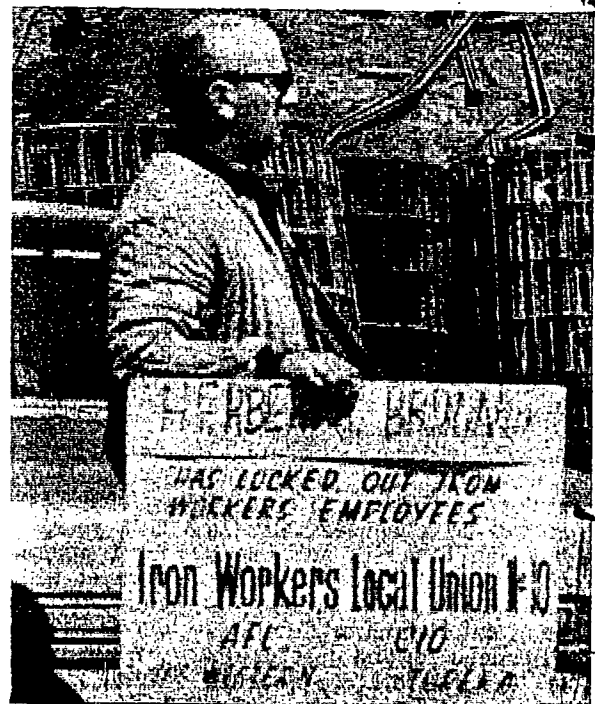

Iron workers, whose union contract expired last Tuesday, set up a picket line that was honored by carpenters, masons, and other workers. The effect has been a complete shutdown.

Officials of the Herbert and Brooner Construction Co., St. Joseph, reportedly ordered the iron workers off the construction site. The iron workers' union is affiliated with a Kansas City iron and steel workers union that is on strike.

Mr. Courtney is the only remaining picket near the site of the $686,666 building, which is scheduled to be completed at the start of the fall semester in September. Mr. Courtney said the previous wages were $4.87½ per hour, but the union wants a contract of $9 per hour for a 35-hour week.

Each work day at approximately 7:30 a. m., Mr. Courtney arrives at the MSC building site and remains there until 2:30 p. m. A sign placed in front of his car reads: "Herbert & Brooner Construction Co. has locked out iron workers employees."

When asked how he got his job, Mr. Courtney replied, "I was just lucky."

Mr. Henry Courtney pickets for iron workers at site of new Industrial Arts Building, where construction was halted last week.

Family, Friends, Faculty Honor Miss Jackson and Mr. Dieterich

Mr. Herbert R. Dieterich, retiring MSC instructor, proudly displays a gold watch which was given to him in recognition of his many years of service in the educational field. He and his wife are shown with joy over her silver service gift from the MSC faculty. Dr. Robert Foster presented the faculty gifts to the retiring teachers.

More than 350 MSC staff members and friends united to pay tribute Wednesday evening to two dedicated members of the teaching profession, Mr. Herbert Dieterich and Miss Laura Frances Jackson.

Mr. Dieterich, 41-year veteran member of the MSC education staff, and Miss Laura Frances Jackson, an MSC English instructor for 12 years, were honored at the retirement dinner in the Union Ballroom. Their combined record of service to the teaching profession totals 86 years.

Following the dinner, speeches of appreciation were given by Dr. Frank Grube, chairman of the Division of Language and Literature, Mr. Ryland Milner, athletic director of the Division of Physical Education, and Dr. Robert P. Foster, president.

Members of the honorees' families, retired faculty members, and Mr. Garvin Williams, Mr. William Phares Jr., and Mr. Edgerton Welch, members of the Board of Regents; Mrs. Phares and Mrs. Welch, were special guests at the dinner.

Before coming to MSC, Miss Jackson taught in high schools in Missouri, Indiana, Texas, and Iowa. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Delta Phi Alpha, Phi Mu fraternity, and sponsor of Phi Mu fraternity.

She serves on the Credit Union Board, and has headed the English teachers' social committee for the past four years. She is an active member of the Maryville branch of AAUW and the Maryville Methodist Church.

Mr. Dieterich's experiences include his principalships of Horace Mann Junior High School, HMHS, and Maryville High School. He has also taught in Marceline, his hometown, and served on the faculty of the Moberly schools three years. He has set records for service to the Northwest Missouri District on the Missouri State High School Activities Association Board of Control, National Federation Football Rules Committee, and National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

Dr. Grube expressed his feeling toward Miss Jackson's retirement stating "how fortunate we would be to find another so dependable, successful, and needed." He praised Miss Jackson "for unlocking the doors of the mind and the doors of the English office," as she has usually been the first of his third floor English staff members to arrive at school each morning.

In his tribute, Mr. Milner complimented Mr. Dieterich on his friendliness by recalling the veteran principal's habit of greeting Horace Mann students as they entered school each morning. After praising

Dr. Kenneth W. Minter To Visit Area School

Dr. Kenneth W. Minter, chairman of the MSC biology department, will lecture to biology classes on water pollution problems April 18 at Higginsville, Mo., High School.

The following day he will guide a field trip open to all of the high school students to visit a lagoon and polluted streams.

Dr. Minter is a consultant in the Federal Title III program.

Dr. Maurice E. Dahmus and Mr. George Barratt, assistant professors of mathematics, recently served as departmental chairmen on North Central Re-Evaluation committees. Mr. Barratt helped re-evaluate grades 7-12 in Richmond while Dr. Dahmus analyzed the mathematical classes in Red Oak, Iowa.

Dr. Maurice E. Dahmus, assistant professor of mathematics, will have his article, "How to Teach Verbal Problems," published this fall in School Science and Mathematics, a journal for science and mathematics teachers.

Dr. Charles E. Koerble, dean of students, and Mr. Bob Dickey, student union director, attended the Association of College Unions International meeting in Denver, Colo., recently.

In dealing with the theme of the meeting, "Community," leaders discussed the relationship between college campuses and surrounding communities.

Dr. Frank D. Grispino, assistant professor of education, has been elected to the executive committee of the State Association of Student Teaching.

Approximately 50 teachers attended the recent meeting on the William Jewell College campus, Liberty. They discussed problems relevant to student teaching in Missouri.

Mrs. Virginia DeMarce, assistant professor of the MSC social science department, has presented the Maryville public library with 35 books on the subject of genealogy.

The books, donated from Mrs. DeMarce's personal library, should be helpful to anyone wanting to trace his ancestry.

Dr. William Fleming and Mr. Roger Corley are attending a convention of the Organization of American Historians in Washington, D. C., this week.

The Stroller questions the usefulness of asking student candidates for platforms. It's a bit like asking the lunchroom to serve what is on the menu. . . .

The Stroller notes the visit of a former athlete and 11 year coach at MSC.

Mr. Wilbur "Sparky" Stalcup, now assistant athletic director at the University of Missouri, was last week's speaker at the Nodaway County Missouri University Association meeting.

Mr. Stalcup came back to MSC in 1933 succeeding his own former coach, Mr. Henry P. Iba.

Shocked to learn of the squabble between Fraternity A and Fraternity B, this columnist is anticipating the meeting of Sorority C and Sorority D. . . .

The Stroller is seriously considering joining the college chorus. A four-day, all-expense paid trip to Colorado with only one performance to give would be a nice vacation for anyone! . . .

Meandering through the college business office, the aged snooper was amazed to learn that important correspondence was being sent out on time. Parents should have received "down slips" sometime during the last week. . . .

The Stroller, being an open-minded spirit, extends an offer to all students to contribute to this column. Any suggestions, comments or ideas can be left at the Missourian office.

A certain fraternity man has had some hard luck lately. On two successive nights while trying to make it to a party with his date, his car stalled. The Stroller suggests that next time he double with a brother driving a reliable car . . .

Blithe Spirit Coming Accomplished Actor to Star As Zany Female Medium

It began just as a spur-of-the-moment inspiration resulting in the casting of a man in a woman's role.

Members of the Missouri Vanguard Theater were reminiscing on the accomplishments of one of its favorite members, Art Ellison, and asked, "What hasn't he done?" The answer, "He's never played a female role," challenged Ellison to prove his versatility in "his most different role" as Madam Acarti, an unorthodox medium, in Noel Coward's, "Blithe Spirit."

According to the critics, quiet, good humored Ellison is an accomplished actor and born entertainer. He is accredited with more than 160 roles in films, radio, and television. He has played nearly every style of theater including roles in "Oedipus Rex," "The Miser," and "Philadelphia, Here I Come!"

He is also known for his portrayal of western voices on the Gene Autrey shows, characterizations on the Burns and Allen show, and the voice of Beauregard Stonewall in commercials.

In the coming production, actress Harriet Levitt will portray the part of Ruth Condomine, the novelist's second wife. Miss Levitt, who has played the role of Amanda in "The Glass Menagerie," is also remembered for her part as Bess Hartman in a Columbia Picture film, "In Cold Blood."

An American theater classic, "Blithe Spirit" is a hilarious marital comedy about a twice married novelist who wishes to learn about the occult from Madam Acarti and ends up contacting his deceased first wife's spirit. The zany one-night performance will be presented Thursday in the Administration Building Auditorium.

The Vanguard company, which will be making its second appearance in Maryville, is co-sponsored by the Missouri State Council on the Arts and the division for continuing education and extension at the University of Missouri at Kansas City. Local arrangements are being made by the Nodaway Community Theater.

Tickets for the play are on sale at both Maryville banks, Condon's Corner Drug, Houghton's Nodaway Drug, and in Mr. Bob Dickey's office in the Union.

Business, Psychology Departments Plan Personnel Management Degree

Beginning next fall the business and psychology departments will merge to offer a bachelor of science degree in personnel management.

A committee from both departments met to draw up plans for this new program of study. Those representing the business department were Mr. Russell Morey, Mr. Tom Gossman, and Mr. David Meier. Instructors from the psychology department were Mr. Gus Rischer, chairman, Dr. Marshall Tackett, and Mr. Mel Blades.

Preparation for the new major included personal correspondence with three departmental chairmen from universities that offered such a program, Michigan State University, the University of Wisconsin, and the University of Missouri at Kansas City Graduate School.

In discussing the new major, Dr. Elwyn K. DeVore, chairman of the Division of Business, said, "The Division of Business faculty believes that this program will fill a void in the training of people for work in personnel occupations. In this particular instance a combination of psychology and business provides excellent academic background."

The aim of the psychology department is to provide the student with psychological knowledge relevant to the utilization of human resources within an organizational setting.

Business and industry are placing more emphasis upon the student in the field of behavioral sciences, especially in the management department, Dr. Richard Quinn, chairman of the psychology department, pointed out. Correlated with this tendency is the increasing need in management positions for individuals trained in understanding the basic principles and applications of research.

"We are most proud to offer this degree in conjunction with the Division of Business and feel we can offer a strong as well as stimulating professional program in this area," Dr. Quinn said.

Becky Nelson Is Selected As 1969 'Miss Maryville'

"I was pleased to even be nominated. This is just too much."

This was Becky Nelson's reply to being chosen this year's Miss Maryville.

Miss Nelson, a freshman from Lakeview, Iowa, is a vocational home economics ma-cheerleader and an outstanding speech and music student. Miss Nelson's other interests include all types of outdoor sports. After college she hopes to teach or travel as an airline hostess.

The next step in this contest for Miss Nelson will be the Miss Missouri competition at Springfield in July.

First runner-up in the Miss Maryville contest was Miss Cheryl Lykins, a junior from Albany. Second runner-up was Miss Rita Becerra, a Mount Alverno Academy student from Kansas City.

From Area Campuses...

A recent notice in The Student, official campus publication at Central Missouri State, stated that "A student absent from classes on the last day prior to or the first day following a vacation period shall have one semester hour added to the total requirements for graduation for each class missed."

Four students for the Democratic Society were arrested recently and SDS recognition was withdrawn by Chancellor John Schwada at the University of Missouri, Columbia, on the basis of the organization's distributing obscene literature and changing its chapter name.

The organization was given 10 days to appeal to the Board of Curators. Forced out of the Commons building, the SDS members took refuge at nearby McAlester Park to discuss their reaction.

The Panhellenic Council at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., has delayed action on a proposal to initiate a fall rush.

"The proposal would allow freshman girls to pledge approximately three weeks after their arrival on campus without having met any grade requirements."

Another item from the Ball State paper states that the Young Democrats Club will present a program paying tribute to the late Robert F. Kennedy, who visited the University last spring. There will be no admission charge, but gift memorials will be accepted for use on the national Robert F. Kennedy Memorial.

Students from Marshalltown (Iowa) Community College, according to that college's newspaper, helped to ease the threat of a flood from the Iowa River by filling sandbags and stacking them along the banks of the river.

Associated Women Students Attend Meeting in Alabama

The goal of the steering committee of the Intercollegiate Association of University Women's national convention, held April 2-6 at the University of Alabama, was to cover almost every issue of campus and national concern.

Those attending the convention from MSC were Barbara Hardy, president; Nancy Powell, senator; Ellen Hamilton, second vice president; and Judy Brady, third vice president.

The approximately 1,000 delegates were welcomed by Dr. Frank A. Rose, university president. They also attended a reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Rose at their mansion. Sorority houses were open the first day of the convention in order that delegates could visit their respective houses.

The two-year theme of the IAWS, "For a Human Community: Confrontation, Contemplation, Commitment," was carried out in the workshops. The four main topics of the workshops were Education for a New World, The Student Community, Female Involvement, and To Live Together.

The keynote speaker was Benjamin DeMott, author and educator from Amherst College. He spoke on "The Student's Role in a Human Community."

Dr. Doris Kearns, a former White House staff member;

Mr. Carl Oglesby, former president of Students for a Democratic Society; and Dr. Miroslav Todorovich, a physics professor at City University of New York and a member of the Institute for Rational Alternatives; made up a debate type reaction panel.

Other speakers were Dr. Jeanne L. Noble, professor, Center for Human Relations and Community Studies at New York University; Dr. K. Patricia Cross, coordinator at University of California's Center for Research and Development in Higher Education; and Dr. Dorothy Truex, University of Oklahoma dean of Women and former member of the MSC faculty.

The program also included a film interview with the late Dr. Martin Luther King, and 120 minutes of viewing film from the First National Student Film Festival.

Outdoor Easter services, held on the Quadrangle, featured a special musical arrangement on the Denny Chimes Carillon. Dr. Truex gave the "send off" speech at an Easter dinner.

Jenkins Proposes...

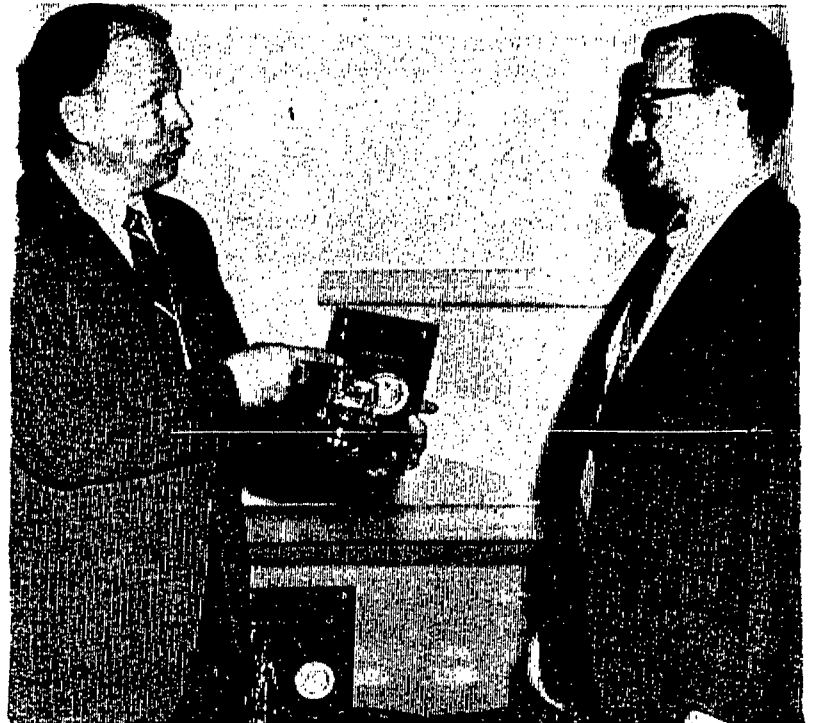

I feel, first of all, that after serving two years on the Student Senate and being involved in several other phases of campus life that I understand the students and I am well aware enough of campus problems to be effective in the position of Student Body Vice President.

To me, the role of student government is that of protecting the student's rights and voicing his wishes for changes which are pertinent to the college community. I would describe myself as being completely pro-student. I think this is made clear in my platform. My philosophy is centered around more student rights and freedoms acquired through greater student responsibility and participation.

Besides supporting the basic platform of my running-mates, I am extremely interested in establishing a Student Participation Committee. This committee would operate as a subcommittee of the Student Senate and would allow virtual representation to all organizations and sections of the dorms.

This committee would be an ideal beginning for formulating better communications with students by furnishing each committee member with pertinent information about Senate activities and asking in turn for ideas from the groups that are represented.

Briefly, some of my other interests are forming a student committee to update the student handbook. I feel that the student handbook should contain better defined academic and disciplinary policies to protect the student. I also favor establishing in the handbook a Student Bill of Rights which would allow the student freer speech privileges and greater general freedoms.
